Consections are made at Fastoria with the findings construct their boless. These rush thickets are very lively with thousands of waterfowl. On a very sandy beach in a small inner bay I saw ago damay scarlet-plumed flamingoes and rose-colored spoonbill crauses, all of them keeping entirely aloof from the crowd of other Sirds. Strange to find these creatures, which generally live in warm climates, here in this cold altatude. At no other place on the lake wherever I passed did I encounter them again.

Toward nightfall we got under way, and steamed slowly out into the vast sheet of water which glittered like sliver in the monolight. It was bordered on our right (the opposite banks are not visible) by sterile review and hills for reddish porphyry, trachyles, and clayish slates, rising nearly all abruptly out of the lake to a height of from one thousand to twelve hundred fect.

*We don't mind the men," remarked a poulterer Wednesday after the rush was over, as he rearranged his rather mixed-rows of chickens, ducks, and turkeys, talking the while to a Philadelphin Prees reporter. "It's these 'ere tarnal women folks as bother us. Some women is good enough to git along with, and don't make no fuss. The worst is the thumb-punchers. What? You don't know what a thumb-puncher is? Well, if you was in this business, you wouldn't want to learn. You see that turkey layin' there? Well, he looks worse'n he'd been knocked out in a prize fight, don't he? He's all black and blue. Thumb-punchin' did that; a little weman—thin—had a nose on her like the beak of one o' them ducks hangin' there, comes up and squeals out, 'Lem'me see the second turkey on the third row.' I puts down the bird. She rams her thumb into its side four or five times. 'How much?' sez she. 'Sixteen a pound,' sez I. Then she goes at it with both thumbs, right an' left, an' hammers that poor dead she goes at it with both thumbs, right an' left, an' hammers that poor dead bird 'till it's all off color. Then she snaps out: 'Put it back, it's too tough. Wouldn't be surprised if its legs were stuffed with shot to make it weigh heavy. What's ducks?"

"Madam,' I sez, as cool and perlite as a feller could under sich circumstances. 'Madam,' sez I, "them ducks can't afford to go through no scrimmage like that turkey got into.' She got mad right off and wentaway, sayin that poor unprotected widdles had no rights."

The London World says: I wouder whether Prince Henry of Battenberg understands the English language? I sat opposite him the other night at the Court Theatre—a very farouche-looking personage, with a fixed scowl. And while all the other people in the house were screaming with delight, while the Princess Beatrice laughed heartily, and even the poor lady and gentleman in walting—God help them!—indulged in a furtive smile, this young man sat sullen and unmoved, without relaxing a gale. The stengthing wisps, neverlon and unmoved, without relaxing a muscle. I only saw him unbend once, when the policeman drank the brandy which had been brought for the magistrate. That was the sort of joke which the policeman drank the brandy which had been brought for the magistrate.
